

PEDIATRIC EMERGENCY MEDICINE

University of California San Francisco

The University of California San Francisco (UCSF), Department of Emergency Medicine is recruiting pediatric emergency medicine (PEM) research and clinical faculty. Successful research candidates will demonstrate important and, original research, a track record of funding and a collaborative spirit. Rank and series will be commensurate with qualifications. PEM has had outstanding growth in the last year and will flourish under our new PEM Division Chief and Vice Chair, Dr. David Jaffe.

The new, free-standing UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital ED opens February 1, 2015. In addition San Francisco General Hospital, a level 1 trauma center, is opening a new hospital in December 2015 that includes an 8-bed pediatric ED. Strong training programs in emergency medicine and pediatrics are a cornerstone of the PEM teaching mission. The department has over 68 ongoing studies and published 102 peer-reviewed articles last year. There are opportunities for leadership and growth within the Department and UCSF School of Medicine.

UCSF excels in basic science and clinical research, global health sciences, policy, advocacy, and medical education scholarship. The San Francisco Bay Area is well-known for its great food, mild climate, beautiful scenery, vibrant cultural environment and outdoor recreational activities.
